Tom Suozzi: A Record and a Commitment to Our Environment

Tom Suozzi, once named statewide “Environmentalist of the Year” by the League of Conservation Voters, has been committed to protecting our natural resources throughout his career in public service.

Tom knows that protecting our air, land and water is not a partisan issue and he’s worked with Democrats and Republicans to get results. Tom took on the polluters to protect our drinking water, orchestrated the successful $100 million cleanup of two federal superfund sites and secured record funding to preserve the Long Island Sound and Little Neck Bay.

- ✓ Increased funding to protect the Long Island Sound by 1,000%
- ✓ Implemented a $150 million program to preserve open space, improve parks and clean up brownfield
- ✓ Protected our drinking water supply by holding polluters accountable
